

Judy Kundert

"Weaver of magical tales that inspire you."

judy@judykundert.com
www.judykundert.com
303-972-4826

"Tell me the facts and I'll learn. Tell me the truth and I'll believe. But tell me a story and it will live in heart forever."
– Native American Proverb

Twitter

LinkedIn

Facebook

SPEAKING TOPICS

Why is travel a magic carpet to self-discovery?

Find out how you can be like the three in four Americans, who "travel to discover something new about themselves or the place they're visiting."

How does travel increase your creativity?

Discover why travel can increase your levels of creativity and cause an uptick in your mind's ability to produce positive thoughts, leading you to a happier, more inspired version of you.

What was it like to fly in the golden age of air travel?

Hop on board and discover air travel during the Jet Age.

Before Judy became a writer, she thought she needed adventure. To her, adventure meant traveling and meeting people from different parts of the country and the world. Her travel experience came as a stewardess for United Airlines. And it was a thrilling time to be part of the Jet Age. She also packed lots of books to read on her travels.

Judy Kundert is a recipient of the Marquis Who's Who Excellence in Authorship award, loves storytelling, from folk and fairy tales to classics for elementary school children. She authors award-winning middle-grade novels designed to inspire and intrigue children. Her first women's debut novel Sky Queen will publish June 2019.

She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Loyola University, Chicago and a Master of Arts from DePaul University, Chicago, and a Master of Arts from the University of Denver. For fun, she likes reading (usually three or four books at a time), watching movies from the oldies to the current films, traveling, biking, and hiking in the vast Colorado outdoors with her husband.

"Kundert paints a vivid portrait of Katherine's flight attendant world . . . A thoughtful and sensitively observed tale with a heroine whose adventures are worth following."

– Kirkus Review

Judy is available for brief speeches, 1-hour workshops, and keynote addresses Contact her for details.